

PRESS RELEASE

GO! Express & Logistics – Specialist for High-tech Logistics

Bonn, 8 September 2016. The express and logistics service provider impresses with customised industry solutions, even in the demanding high-tech sector, as the fast-moving market, characterised by innovations and product launches, demands the highest level of responsiveness and flexibility in logistical implementation. At the same time, GO! distinguishes itself as a proficient logistics provider thanks to the highest delivery rates, the lowest damage and loss rates of 0.02 per cent and tailor-made services.

Maximum flexibility thanks to high-availability logistics

When systems in the machine engineering, IT or telecommunication sectors break down, then highly-flexible logistics solutions are required. Consequently, in the spare parts business time windows of 120 minutes are not uncommon. To guarantee this service, 24 hours, 7 days a week, then processes must be perfectly coordinated. After receiving an order GO! uses a large number of emergency warehouses for the provision of spare parts, these high-availability depots are secured by alarms, equipped with surveillance cameras and thus meet all of the safety standards.

Transport and installation from one source

Specially trained couriers, called Technical Couriers, handle the entire warranty and repair case process. In doing so, they initially deliver technical devices and install them directly on-site – even with a fixed date of delivery. 'We bring to our customers an understanding of their sector with tailor-made solutions specially for their company. In addition, our internationally active network as well as regional focus and proximity to the customer speak in our favour as a logistics partner,' tells Ulrich Nolte, managing director of GO! Express & Logistics (Germany) GmbH.

About GO! EXPRESS & LOGISTICS
